YOUR LOVE AS ART, YOUR LIFE AS LEGACY

BIRDS OF A FEATHER PHOTOGRAPHY

EVERY SEASON, ALL WEATHER...

Even at Blue Mountain, where every corner is picture-perfect, unexpected moments happen—and that's when presence replaces the plan. A sudden downpour, a delayed ceremony, or a last-minute timeline shift can feel stressful, but with an experienced team by your side, these moments become effortless. Years of guiding couples through every scenario allow us to anticipate, adapt, and capture the beauty in real time—whether it's laughter under umbrellas, quiet glances during a pause, or candid energy that can't be staged.

NO

Worries

When you need to rely on a plan B, you can find peace in vendors who have been through it all. With experience guiding weddings through every weather and timing challenge, we do our part to make sure your day unfolds beautifully—no matter what.

Having a vendor who knows the venue, the light, and the flow ensures nothing is lost when plans change. Rather than stressing, couples can relax, knowing every detail, emotion, and connection will be documented beautifully. It's this combination of preparedness, calm, and intuition that transforms unpredictability into some of the most memorable, heartfelt images of the day.

LET'S GET READY...

Getting ready at Blue Mountain is where the wedding day quietly begins. Whether at a local cabin, or the beautiful bridal suite- details are laid with intention, each moment builds anticipation for the next, and the pace feels calm before the celebration unfolds. We help you thoughtfully plan this part of the day in advance, creating a timeline that allows space for meaningful moments to happen naturally. With light, flow, and transitions in mind, we ensure there is time to capture the small details, genuine candids, and the heartfelt connections that often become the most treasured memories. For couples who desire a fuller narrative, the option of a second photographer allows both sides of the getting-ready experience to be documented- parallel moments of anticipation, emotion, and celebration unfolding simultaneously.

When getting ready feels unhurried, couples are fully present- and the story of the day begins exactly as it should.

TO LOOK, OR NOT TO LOOK?

One of the questions we're asked most often is whether a couple should plan a first look.

At Blue Mountain, especially between November and March when the sun sets early, a first look can be incredibly helpful. It allows for ample daylight for portraits and creates a smooth, relaxed flow to the day. Just as importantly, it offers a quiet, centering moment—one that grounds couples, eases nerves, and gently reminds them of what sits at the heart of the celebration they've been planning. An added benefit: completing portraits before the ceremony means you're free to fully enjoy your cocktail hour with guests.

That said, some couples are drawn to tradition and choose to wait until the ceremony to see one another – and there is beauty in that choice as well. For those honoring this approach, we often suggest thoughtful alternatives, such as exchanging letters to read privately before the ceremony or sharing a first touch around a corner or doorway.

First moments can also extend beyond the couple themselves; we're always happy to help plan meaningful reveals with parents, siblings, or even a joyful moment with your wedding party.

However you choose to experience it, we'll guide the timing with care so each moment feels intentional, emotional, and true to you.

YOUR DAY

Your Timeline

We will help you plan your time.

Planning your wedding day shouldn't feel overwhelming. We make the process simple and supportive by helping you build a thoughtful timeline in advance- one that flows naturally and allows space for what matters most. With the details handled and the day moving smoothly, you're free to be fully present in every moment, trusting that nothing meaningful is missed.

We will guard your peace.

Your wedding day is sacred, it's not a photoshoot. We intentionally guard your time, building in gentle buffers between planned moments and creating space to step away, breathe, and truly savor the day as it unfolds.

We will prioritize what matters most to you.

We begin every wedding by listening. Every couple is different, and every celebration comes with its own priorities. Whether that means a detailed photo list, no list at all, or a balance between one partner who loves photographs & another who wants to spend as little time as possible away from the celebration. Our role is to honor what matters most to you. We thoughtfully tailor the timeline, approach, and flow of the day so your priorities lead the way, not a rigid formula.

YOUR FAVORITE PEOPLE.

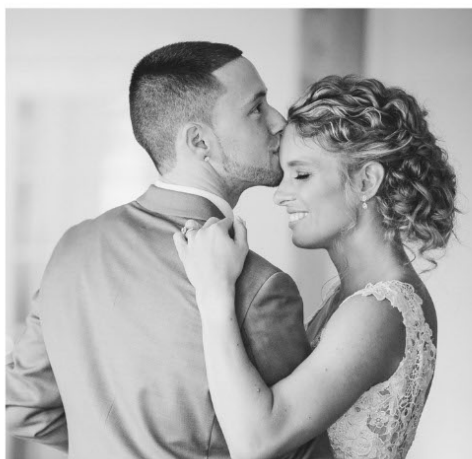

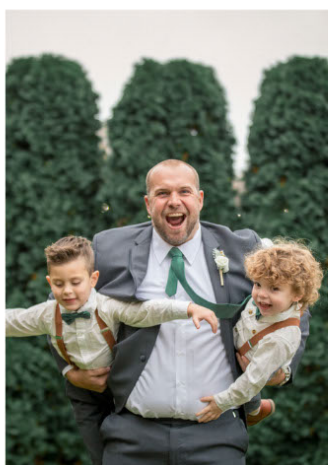

Your wedding story isn't only about the two of you- it's shaped by the people who brought you to this moment. We honor those stories with intention, capturing the quiet pride, deep connections, and shared history that become part of your family's legacy for generations to come.

Your wedding day is made up of more than a single moment-it's a collection of people, emotions, and connections that deserve to be remembered with care. From the very beginning, we plan intentionally to capture the moments that matter most with the people who matter most to you.

YOUR FAVORITE MOMENTS.

Family formals are thoughtfully prepared in advance, allowing time for meaningful portraits with parents, grandparents, siblings, and loved ones, without stress or rushing. This preparation creates space for calm, joyful interactions and ensures no one important is overlooked. Just as importantly, it allows the day to unfold naturally once those key moments are complete.

In between, we focus on the energy that can't be planned- the laughter, the movement, the tears, and the spontaneous celebrations that happen when everyone is fully present. By balancing careful preparation with intuitive storytelling, we preserve both the timeless portraits and the emotion-filled, joy-soaked moments in between the full story of your favorite people, exactly as it felt.

Goofballs, Hairballs... & Everything In Between.

Another thing we hear quite often is that couples are worried about feeling comfortable in front of the camera. With our decade+ of experience and kind hearted nature... that is no problem. From guiding large wedding parties with ease to helping even the most camera-shy guests feel comfortable, we create an atmosphere of trust and calm. With clear direction and a relaxed presence, we help everyone feel like themselves in front of the camera from your favorite people to your favorite moody, hairless cat. The result is imagery that feels natural, joyful, and true to who you are.

We include an engagement session in all of our collections. We are happy to meet you wherever illustrates your story the best! Plus a portion of each wedding goes to planting and preserving our pollinator meadow.

A Note From Our Family

Thank you for considering us to tell your story.

As a family team, photography and film have always been more than a service to us – they are the way we honor where we come from, and the way we help families remember where they're going. With two generations now creating together,

Legacy has become the heart of our work.

Every wedding we document becomes part of that legacy – the way a parent looks at their child before they walk down the aisle, the moment your partner's breath catches when they see you, the quiet touches, the loud laughter, the fleeting seconds that become the stories your family will retell for years.

We don't take that responsibility lightly. It is a privilege to stand beside you on a day that will live in your family's history long after the last song fades.

If you choose us, we promise to create more than a gallery of images.

We will create a timeless record of love– one that preserves not just how it looked, but how it felt.

Inspired by love. Crafted with intention. Preserved for generations.

From our family to yours, thank you for the opportunity to be part of your beginning.

With gratitude,

John & Tassia
